CHILLER TABLE EXTENDER INSTRUCTIONS

The chiller table extender when installed as a full size unit with two compartments (this does not apply to the half size) sits slightly above the bottom surface of the table (about 1 or 2 cm). When assembling the table extender, assemble it in the table and allow the unit to rise up when you install the second half, this way it will fit. If you try to push the fully assembled unit down level to the bottom surface you may break the acrylic panels.

- Assemble the first half of the unit by sliding the end pieces marked "A" into the 2 corner pieces also marked "A".
- Slide the longer side pieces marked "B" into the corner where it is marked "B"
- Slide the piece marked center onto the two brackets marked center and then connect the completed piece to the pieces marked "B". You have now formed one half of the chiller table extender.
- (Full size extender) If you are using the full size extender (as opposed to half size) complete the process by adding two additional long sides marked "B", the corners and finally the end piece marked "A". Remember, allow the unit to rise up in the well of the table.
